Every year, Hattie Larlham donors and volunteers selflessly give of themselves to support children and adults with developmental disabilities, many of whom they have never met. Your commitment and generosity change lives.

Thank you.
Joe didn't have an agricultural background when he started at Hattie's Gardens, but he did have a motivated attitude and work ethic. “I've had previous job training and worked in areas where people watched my every move,” Joe said. “At Hattie's Gardens, I have the freedom to do what I love.”

Some of Joe’s favorite responsibilities include composting, harvesting and teaching children the importance of gardening. “When I teach children, I want them to remember what I taught them and carry those skills on.”

Joe is a shining example of how people with developmental disabilities can succeed at work. He has learned responsibility, independence, leadership and to work with others. These skills will stay with him the rest of his life. “I come to work loving what I do. Having the chance to make a difference by working with my hands is really good in my book.”

Hattie’s Gardens is a sustainable agriculture garden growing chemical-free produce. It is a Hattie Larlham vocational program for adults with developmental disabilities. Produce grown at Hattie’s Gardens is used at Hattie’s Cafe & Gifts and at select Akron, Ohio, restaurants. It is also available to the public at area farmers’ markets. Hattie’s Gardens employees can take home the fruits of their labor, too.

John Hinds, supporter

In Sept. 2012, John Hinds met with Hattie Larlham CEO Dennis Allen to discuss a second Hattie’s Gardens. Hinds was impressed with the organization’s progress since his time on the board of directors. After visiting Hattie’s Gardens at Crown Point Ecology Center, John got involved. “It’s [Hattie Larlham] a local charity, which I like. It’s a charity where the reward for the money is incredible,” John said. “When you invest money with Hattie Larlham, it changes lives.”

John’s contribution and his outreach to others were instrumental to the second Hattie’s Gardens, which opened May 16, 2013, at Old Trail School. “The kids working seemed happy in the fresh air, in this environment, producing a useful product and learning a viable trade,” John said. “A food bank might eliminate hunger for a short period of time, but Hattie Larlham changes the lives of people who are most reliant on others.”

Purchasing produce from Hattie’s Gardens at Akron-area farmers’ markets supports locally grown, chemical-free agriculture and people with developmental disabilities. Your interest in healthy eating and sustainable produce can support Hattie Larlham’s employment initiatives.
In May 2012, Hattie’s Doggie Day Care & Boarding opened its third location on Brookpark Road in Cleveland. Hattie’s Doggie Day Care & Boarding is a vocational program for adults with developmental disabilities. The cage-free environment offers day and overnight care, daily exercise and grooming services. The new location was made possible by a generous donation from The Cleveland Foundation.

“It’s amazing to see the care and pride of people taking care of the dogs,” said Cleveland Foundation Director of Community Responsive Grantmaking Kathy Hallissey. The Cleveland Foundation is greater Cleveland’s largest grantmaking organization committed to leaving an impact of positive change in the community. It supports underserved populations, including people with developmental disabilities at Hattie Larlham, and helps them to succeed.

Kim, participant

Kim’s career with Hattie’s Doggie Day Care & Boarding began in September 2012, but her love for animals comes from growing up with them in her home.

“Doggies are my furry children,” said Kim. “I think about them when I’m away and look forward to coming back in.”

Employees at Hattie’s Doggie Day Care & Boarding are trained to care for dogs with regular grooming, feeding and activity. Kim’s physical activity with the dogs has helped her lose 62 pounds. Both employees and dogs benefit from the mutual love and companionship they experience each day.

“I save up until I find something I really want and get it,” said Kim. She earns a paycheck for her work and uses her money to buy groceries, clothes and have her hair colored.

“I enjoy taking care of the dogs and giving them love, and dogs return your affection by licking you,” said Kim. “It’s a friendly work environment compared to everything else,” said Kim.

“I benefit a lot from this job.”

“Overall Hattie Larlham provides high quality care and has attracted the foundation,” Kathy said, “The staff is so caring and committed to the success of individuals with developmental disabilities.”

Employment is an important issue today. Hattie Larlham is strengthening Northeast Ohio’s economy by creating jobs for people who want to and can work. Choosing Hattie’s Doggie Day Care & Boarding for your dog when you go out of town means more people hard at work in our community.
Courtney’s mother, Melanie, toured Hattie Larlham in the 1970s as part of her Hiram College degree in early childhood education. Years later, when Courtney, one of her three daughters, was born with a developmental disability, Melanie returned. While the transition was difficult for Melanie, she took comfort knowing her daughter was happy at Hattie Larlham.

“Once parents place their children, it is important to get involved and stay involved,” Melanie said. “I’m always bringing people so they can see the quality of care here.”

Volunteers are a valuable source of community support and social interaction for the people with developmental disabilities at Hattie Larlham.

“Volunteerism has to be purposeful,” said Melanie. “I think it’s neat when volunteers do something with kids that is enjoyable.”

“Courtney is independent, like my other two children,” said Melanie. “If it weren’t for Hattie Larlham, she wouldn’t have that.”

“I was truly impressed by Hattie Larlham’s mission,” said Carol, “and I wanted to help in any way that I could.”

“At first, I donated a little money but soon realized that I wanted to have a stronger connection to the individuals and staff of Hattie Larlham.” Carol decided to further commit to improving the lives of people with developmental disabilities by generously donating her time.

“I think about how hard it must be to have a child with developmental disabilities. A place like Hattie Larlham is unbelievable and I want to do whatever I can to help staff, families, and people with developmental disabilities.”

Carol volunteers at the indoor pool helping children swim and also assists with transport. She also plans to volunteer with Creative Arts.

“I really enjoy getting to know the people I am helping,” said Carol. “It has been an interesting and fun learning experience for me and I hope it’s the same for the children I work with.”

Not all gifts are material. Giving your time to enrich the lives of people with developmental disabilities supports Hattie Larlham’s mission of comfort, joy and achievement.
Hattie Larlham Creative Arts is proud to be a contributing member of Northeast Ohio’s thriving art community. Your patronage supports artists with developmental disabilities and their work, which has appeared in Cleveland and Akron galleries and been shown across the country.

Kerry was one of the first to join Creative Arts when it started in 2007. The program gives people with developmental disabilities the opportunity to create art with the assistance of an art tracker.

"The patience of art trackers allows kids to be themselves," said Pete, Kerry’s father. "They use every ounce of the client’s ability to make sure their personality comes through in all artwork.”

Pete is also a Hattie Larlham board member and was instrumental in developing the program. He knew residents like his daughter would benefit from an art program. Creative Arts has grown to serve 95 artists. Artwork is exhibited at local venues and has gained national attention. Proceeds from sold artwork go to the artist.

"Funding is so important to keep this wonderful program going," said Pete. Kerry started the program by painting canvases and soon moved on to ceramics. "Kerry likes stimulation, chaos and craziness and that’s why she loves to throw clay," said Pete. "This program gives her more relationships with adults, changes her environment and improves her quality of life."

Ernst & Young Assurance Services Senior Manager Nicholas Lopick has a history with Hattie Larlham, dating back to 1963. His grandparents lived near the Larlham family and his mother's first job was at Hattie Larlham.

In 2011, Nicholas connected with Hattie Larlham CEO Dennis Allen at the EY Entrepreneur of the Year Award™ gala. Later, the two toured the Hattie Larlham Center for Children with Disabilities.

"You’re not human if you don’t feel moved by the tour," said Nicholas. The tour inspired him to join Hattie Larlham’s corporate leadership committee and donate to Creative Arts.

Nicholas saw EY’s new Cleveland building as an opportunity to support Hattie Larlham. In April 2013, the company held an employee art sale and raised $13,400 for Creative Arts. In July 2013, EY also purchased 16 pieces by our artists which are currently on display in the new facility.

"This was a small way for our firm to give back, and we were happy to support Hattie Larlham," said Nicholas.
Unrestricted giving allows Hattie Larlham to apply funds where the need is greatest and where they will have the greatest impact. It can fund an unexpected cost, non-reimbursable medical expenses and the general operating needs that enable Hattie Larlham to deliver comprehensive care to people with developmental disabilities.

"Hattie [Larlham] has been a savior for our family," said Ericka, the mother of a child at the Hattie Larlham Center for Children with Disabilities. "There is nothing like knowing your child is being cared for and loved," said Ericka.

When Ericka is not able to visit her son R.J., the staff go above and beyond to connect him with her. Ericka is able to hold regular Skype sessions with her son, and the staff sends photos and biweekly e-mails written in R.J.’s voice.

"You can tell when people care, it's not just a job," said Ericka. "The staff has been wonderful." Unrestricted gifts make it possible for people like R.J. to continue to receive high quality care at Hattie Larlham and for parents like Ericka to know their children are in loving hands.

Unrestricted gifts to Hattie Larlham’s annual fund provide the organization with the flexibility to use the donation where the need is greatest. This type of gift supports people with developmental disabilities and their families throughout Northeast Ohio’s communities.

The Harry K. and Emma R. Fox Charitable Foundation has supported Hattie Larlham since 1965. It is an independent foundation with an understanding of the needs of Northeast Ohio’s nonprofit organizations. It also recognizes the importance of unrestricted gifts to Hattie Larlham’s general operating fund.

"General operating grants allow nonprofit organizations to use the funds for whatever they need it for," said Harold E. Friedman, Fox Foundation trustee.

Contributions to the general operating fund enable Hattie Larlham to direct money where it will have the greatest impact on the lives of children and adults with developmental disabilities.

The Harry K. and Emma R. Fox Charitable Foundation has funded such projects as the capital campaign, vocational training and the new Cleveland Hattie’s Doggie Day Care & Boarding.
Your choices say much about who you are, what you believe and value.

You choose to help people with developmental disabilities. You choose to believe in Hattie Larlham.

You recognize the benefit of comprehensive health care, residential assistance, vocational support, artistic expression and social interaction for children and adults with developmental disabilities. You see our programs and services bolster our economy and strengthen our communities.

Your choices help others.
You choose to care.
You choose to give.

working together

Hattie Larlham partners with corporations, organizations and foundations to develop innovative new programs and services. When we work together, we make a difference in the lives of children and adults with developmental disabilities.

ways to give

More than 1,500 Northeast Ohio children and adults with developmental disabilities rely on the Hattie Larlham programs and services made possible by your donations. You can donate online, or include Hattie Larlham in your estate plans. Depending on your financial goals, you can donate bequests, annuities and real estate. Visit www.hattielarlham.org for more information or call the Hattie Larlham Foundation at (800) 233-8611.
Your support of Hattie Larlham impacts the lives of children and adults with developmental disabilities. People with developmental disabilities are gifted with the discovery of their own abilities. Their abilities are awakened by the opportunity to use them. Your support provides these opportunities.

For Kerry, her quality of life is improved each time she throws clay in the Hattie Larlham Creative Arts program. For Kim, it's getting to work with her beloved pets at Hattie's Doggie Day Care & Boarding. For Joe, it's having the opportunity to work with his hands and teach people the skills he has learned at Hattie's Gardens. For Courtney and R.J., it's living in a place where they are loved, cared for and can live their lives to the fullest.

People who support Hattie Larlham are just as fulfilled through their gifts. For Nick, the artwork in his new building is a reminder that artists with developmental disabilities can continue to thrive and produce more pieces because of his donation. For Kathy, it's the pride she sees in the employees when they work with pets. For John, it's the garden employees he sees benefiting from learning a viable trade. For Carol, it's developing a stronger connection with the people she spends time with. For Harold, it's donating so Hattie Larlham can designate funds where they are needed most.

These great examples are a thank you to each person who has changed the lives of people with developmental disabilities through their generous donations.

As a Hattie Larlham donor and a champion of the rights of people with developmental disabilities your support and investment in our mission inspire continued achievement.
